

In The Quiet of The Night

Robbie and I wrote this about when you get into a fight with your lover, and nobody wants to back down. So, you go to bed mad but in the quiet of the night you think “what if we just let go of our pride and started again?”. When this happens how good it feels and at the end of the song, they end up there.

Mark Henry Ham